ABOUT

Martin Enterprises, located in Williamston, North Carolina, is a community rehabilitation program which was established in 1972 as an adult day care center for people with disabilities under the administration of the local community college.

Today the non-profit operates an adult developmental vocational program, two group homes, a vocational services program, psychosocial rehabilitation, and a CAP-MR/DD program for adults with developmental disabilities. Participants must be 16 years of age for day services and at least 18 years of age for residential services.

The program's goal is to provide opportunities, training, and supports for individuals to assist them in becoming as independent as possible at home, at work, and in the community. The agency provides job training, job placement, and work activities for its clients.

The emphasis is placed on meeting the individual needs of each adult, taking into account each person's unique abilities and disabilities.

VOCATIONAL PROGRAMS

Martin Enterprises operates five vocational programs sponsored by the NC Division of Vocational Rehabilitation:

- Vocational Evaluation
- Work Adjustment
- Supported Employment
- Community Based Assessment
- On-The-Job Training

Clients, who come into Martin Enterprises' program, are assessed to determine the individual's vocational potential for a wide variety of jobs. Measurements of clients' strengths and areas of need are evaluated also. These assessments help determine what types of jobs would be appropriate for each individual to help insure that they will have success in the work place.

On-the-job training and supervision is offered to these clients by a Job Coach once they are hired at no charge to the employer. The Job Coach may also assist in job modifications and adaptations if needed.

Employers benefit from reduced turnover, dependable employees, retraining at no cost and Federal tax credit incentives.
