Press release, 11-1-13:

Christmas Tree Lights Recycling Program Partners With Regional Walmart Stores

Christmas tree light strands, that no longer “work,” are a part of everyone’s life. The problem every Christmas season is “What to do with them?” You hate to just “throw them away” (This seems wrong.), but there really doesn’t seem to be a reason to save them.

This holiday season Martin Enterprises along with eight regional Walmart stores is, once again, going to give you the opportunity to rid yourself of the lights without feeling guilty. Blue or green collection carts, donated by Waste Industries, are set up in Walmart stores located in Elizabeth City, Greenville (both locations), Kitty Hawk, Roanoke Rapids, Tarboro, Washington, and Williamston. This collection keeps the lights out of the land fill plus helps support the mission of Martin Enterprises. In addition, 10% of the proceeds will go towards animal rescue

You can visit www.martinenterprises.org or call 252-792-8251 for more information plus like us on Facebook at Martin Enterprises. If you live in an area that isn’t listed above, you are welcome to mail your lights to us at Christmas Lights, P.O. Box 1042, Williamston, NC 27892 in a box or padded mailing envelope.

Call Susan Daughtry at 252-792-8251 or e-mail susandaughtry@martinenterprises.org for additional information.
